Track Special Education Services

Easier than Ever

A comprehensive solution for special education teachers to easily monitor and track special education services

Looking for an easier way to document and track special education services for students?

Athlos understands it can be difficult to ensure all students are receiving the number of service minutes outlines in their Individualized Education Plan (IEP). That's why we developed the Athlos Special Education Logs app.
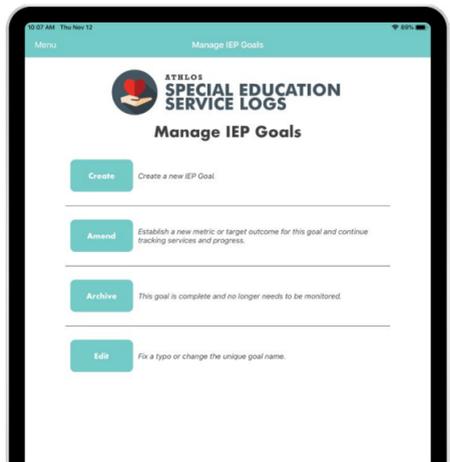

No more paper and pen.

No more sifting through papers in prep for IEP meetings.

Athlos Special Education Logs app helps teachers more efficiently track the services they are providing students. The app is optimized to make record keeping easier, so you have more time for your students.

Our app was created specifically for the special education professional looking for a more impactful way to track special education services. Not only does the app make documentation and tracking simpler, it does away with pen and paper documentation and antiquated tracking tools.

Designed for use by special education teachers, service providers, and special education departments, our app records service minutes in alignment with IEP goals and provides real time data dashboards to track special education services and share progress with key stakeholders.
